Cardinals' Opening Day Road Changes and Safety Tips

The Metropolitan Police Department, City of St. Louis ("the department") along with the St. Louis Cardinals would like to inform the citizens of St. Louis as well as visiting fans of street closures and safety precautions. The St. Louis Cardinals' baseball season will begin with a 3:15 p.m. game against the Cincinnati Reds on Monday, April 8.

Due to the construction of Ballpark Village, there are road changes and closures that motorists need to be aware of when traveling to and from Busch Stadium:

- 8th Street is now a two-way street between Clark and Market with two north and southbound lanes.
- Temporary stop signs are currently in place at the intersections of 8th Street and Clark, as well as 8th Street and Walnut.
- Walnut is now a two-way street between 8th Street and Broadway, with one westbound lane and two eastbound lanes.
- 7th Street is no longer in existence.

Pedestrians walking to the stadium should note that the pedestrian bridge from Stadium West Parking garage has been removed and the intersection of Clark and 8th Street has been redesigned with a larger sidewalk. Clark Street will also be open to pedestrian traffic on Opening Day. The Cardinals Opening Day Rally will be at the corner of 8th and Clark.

The gates to the stadium open at 1:15. The department urges all fans to allow themselves plenty of time to get to the Downtown area and plenty of time to get inside the gates at Busch Stadium.

Fans are encouraged to take MetroLink. To avoid costs of parking and game day traffic, fans can use one of 19 free Park-Ride lots along the MetroLink line and take the train to Stadium Station, right across the street from the ballpark. Check the Metro website www.MetroSt.Louis.org for schedules and the Park-Ride lot nearest you.

Those choosing to drive are urged to “park smart”— park in well-lit, populated areas, concealing valuables by placing them in compartments or in the vehicle’s trunk prior to arrival. The department strongly encourages citizens to leave firearms at home. Events such as baseball games are no place for firearms, as they are not allowed inside Busch Stadium and leaving them in a vehicle creates opportunity for criminals. Don’t let your legal firearm become an illegal firearm.

Event-goers are also advised to remain aware of their surroundings and if choosing to consume alcohol, are urged to drink responsibly. Criminals often target those who appear to be most vulnerable, including those who might be intoxicated.

There will be a significant law enforcement presence in all areas surrounding Downtown and Busch Stadium. We strongly encourage anyone who sees criminal or suspicious activity to alert a nearby officer or dial 9-1-1.

The department urges all those in attendance to have a safe and enjoyable event.
